Forward Only

Redirect type:

Forward with Masking

Quick and Easy Method:

Simply Forward to your placeholder. Remember change your placeholder first, before you forward your domain.

Forward Only will show your placeholder in the address bar

Forward with Masking will mask your placeholder and show your domain name.

Click OK and you are all set. Domain will forward in about an hour.

I prefer to modify the CNAME myself.

This method is simple and easy and it works. If you wish, continue to CNAME

CNAME (Alias)

To create a new CNAME record for your domain, please complete the Alias Name, Points To Host Name, and TTL fields below; then click "OK."

Note: The Points To Host Name should be defined as your domain name (i.e., "www.domainnamegoeshere.com") or "@" (Entering "@" will automatically insert your domain name as the host name for the CNAME Record). The Alias field should be the subdomain of your top-level domain the CNAME record points to your domain.

For example: If you want the CNAME record to point "www" within your domain to "www.domainnamegoeshere," you should enter "www" in the Alias field

Enter an Alias Name:

The screenshot shows a web interface titled "Forwarding and Masking". It displays the domain "SUBURBSOFDETROIT.COM" is forwarded to "http://www.suburbsofdetroit.com" with the option "Forward Only". There are "Edit" and "Remove" links next to the domain. Below the domain list are "OK" and "Cancel" buttons. A green arrow points to the domain list. At the bottom, there is a light blue section with a FAQ entry: "What is domain forwarding?" with the answer "It's simple! Forwarding sends visitors coming to your domain to the webpage you set here." and a "Learn more" link. To the right of the FAQ is a logo for "24 Seven" with the tagline "Real Estate & Technology Training" and a "LEARN MORE" button.

Last Step is to forward to your Domain. Click on the Green Forward Arrow and Select Forward Domain.

Type in your domain address:

<http://www.SuburbsofDetroit.com>

Not Case Sensitive, Capitalization does not matter.

When marketing your domain, always capitalize to separate your words.
